Information on the European Deforestation Regulation (EUDR)

Regulation (EU) 2023/1115 – EUDR (European Deforestation Regulation) is entered into force on June 29th, 2023 and will become applicable from December 30th, 2025.

The EUDR is part of an action plan promoted by the European Union to counteract deforestation and forest degradation globally.

As a major market and consumer of these raw materials, the EU has taken on the responsibility of reducing its environmental impact.

By promoting the consumption of “deforestation-free” products, the Regulation aims to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and protect biodiversity.

The impact of EUDR on Tovo Gomma products

The Regulation concerns rubber products (compounds, sheets and foams) produced using natural rubber (NR), raw material expressly mentioned in the Annex I of the EUDR Regulation.

The importers of raw material and the manufacturers who use it are required to do a Due Diligence on the platform realized by the European Community.

By completing the information required, a unique identifier number is generated that will accompany the products subjected to the Regulation.

Tovo Gomma S.p.A. has been taking measures to ensure the conformity with the new provisions: once the process is done, this identifier number will be included directly in the sales documents.

Timing and scope of application

- The Due Diligence obligation will enter into force on December 30th, 2025.
- The application will apply only to natural rubber imported into the European Community from December 31st, 2025.
- The rubber products manufactured using synthetic rubber are excluded from the scope of this Regulation.

Tovo Gomma S.p.A. confirms its commitment to comply with European regulations and ensure maximum transparency and traceability of the raw materials used, with a view to sustainable and responsible development.

Best regards.
